REMOTE CONTROL

QuickLink

User manual

Last updated: 17 November 2026

Welcome

Thank you for choosing the QuickLink.

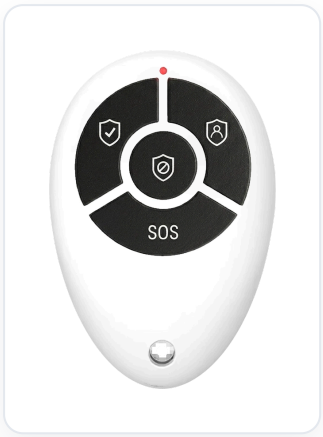

With the QuickLink you arm and disarm your alarm system with a single press, without walking to the alarm panel or picking up your phone. It fits on your key ring, and in an emergency you can raise the alarm with it straight away.

The QuickLink works with the ShieldLink Lite, Plus, Pro and Elite and with the CamperGuard Pro.

1 The buttons

The QuickLink

Button layout: Away, Home, Off and SOS

Button	What it does
Away (shield with tick)	Arms the system: everyone has left, every sensor triggers the alarm
Home (shield with figure)	Arms in Home mode: only the sensors you have set for Home are active
Off (middle)	Disarms the system
SOS	Hold for about 1.5 seconds: immediate alarm — even when the system is off

Each time you press a button, the light at the top flashes briefly: the QuickLink is sending its signal. The QuickLink itself does not show a status — whether arming or disarming worked, you hear from the alarm panel or see in the app.

2 Pairing with your alarm panel

1. Put your alarm panel in pairing mode for a remote control — see the table below.
2. Press any button on the QuickLink while the alarm panel counts down. The alarm panel confirms the pairing.
3. If you like, give the remote a name in the app, such as “Sarah’s keys”.

GOOD TO KNOW

Every alarm panel pairs accessories in its own way. The short version is below; you will find the full steps in your alarm panel’s manual, in the chapter on pairing accessories. All manuals are at neroo.eu/pages/manuals.

Alarm panel	How to start pairing
ShieldLink Pro, Elite and CamperGuard Pro	Connection → Remote → “+ Pair” (user code, default 1234)
ShieldLink Plus	Menu → Accessories → Remote → “+”
ShieldLink Lite	Settings ⚙ → admin code → 1 → 1 → ✓ (quick pairing)
Via the app	Open the alarm panel → Accessories → “+”

3 Handy in daily use

- Arm as you pull the door shut behind you: press Away as soon as you are outside. With an exit delay set on the alarm panel, you can also do this indoors in time.
- Disarm before you open the door, so no entry delay starts running.
- Give each member of the household their own QuickLink. You can pair up to 6 per alarm panel.
- Do not carry the QuickLink loose in a full coat pocket or bag, so no button gets pressed by accident. If you want to rule that out completely, choose the QuickLink Pro with its sliding cover.

WARNING

Lost your QuickLink? Remove it from your alarm panel straight away, so that whoever finds it cannot disarm your system. On the Pro, Elite and CamperGuard you do this under Connection → Remote; on the Plus under Menu → Accessories → Remote; on the Lite you delete all remotes with Settings ⚙ → admin code → 2 → 6 → ✓, and then pair the remaining ones again.

4 Replacing the battery

The QuickLink runs on one CR2032 coin cell, which lasts up to 2 years. If the light no longer comes on or only very faintly, or the alarm panel stops responding, replace the battery.

1. Carefully open the housing at the seam on the side, for example with a plastic guitar pick or a coin.
2. Take out the old battery and insert a new CR2032, with the plus (+) facing up.
3. Click the housing shut again and test a button.
